WLB Sends 1,000 Wage Cases Back for Further Bargaining

Implements New Settlement Policy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(UP)—The War Labor Board tonight returned all wage issues in about 1,000 pending cases to the parties for further collective bargaining under the new wage-price policy.

The WLB in a unanimous decision said that the action was taken to implement the government policy stated by President Truman Tuesday night favoring the settlement of wage disputes by collective bargaining.

The move swept the board docket clean of all those dispute cases in which the parties can apply the newly amended wage-price policy.

HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT

"Frankly, the board hopes that the parties will settle the disputes and they will never come back here," a spokesman said. Most of the cases were pending when the war ended.

The WLB will issue only recommendations and not orders in any of the cases which might be returned here by failure of the parties to reach agreement, it was said. The board technically retains jurisdiction of the disputes.

The board action came as the administration pushed plans for the national labor-management conference opening here Monday which officials believe will be the greatest collective bargaining session in American industrial history.

WANTS PROSPERITY KEY

President Truman personally told 16 more delegates to the conference that their best efforts are needed to make the conference a success and assure America's prosperity and continued world leadership.

Those who visited the White House included President M. W. Clement of the Pennsylvania railroad, Charles E. Wilson of General Motors Corporation, R. J. Thomas of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) and Emil Rieve, of the Textile Workers (CIO).

Thomas said he hoped the conference would achieve definite objectives but Wilson said he did not think either side could agree to definite commitments.

The White House announced that President David Sarnoff of Radio Corporation of America would replace President C. E. Wilson of General Electric Co., as an employer delegate.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW-CIO vice president, told a news conference that the CIO would certainly make an effort to have the issue of wages and prices placed at the top of the conference agenda.

TO PICKET

Edward G. Wilms, chairman of the independent unions of New Jersey, announced that pickets representing 500,000 members would be set up around the Labor Department building when the conference opens because of failure to include independent union leadership among the delegates.

"If President Truman and Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach want labor harmony, it will be necessary for them to remember that working people not affiliated with the AFL or CIO must be represented at the conference," Wilms said in a statement.

Fred Smith, public relations director for the conference, told a news conference that it was impossible to invite everyone who wanted to attend. He said the decisions of the conference will have to be sold to and bought by a far greater number of workers and employers outside the conference than are represented in the sessions.

Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small told a building manufacturers conference that serious consideration should be given to wage increases to step up production of scarce materials.

Reuther Threatens To Sue OPA

CIO To Seek Injunction If Industry Is Granted Increase in Auto Prices

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(UP) Walter P. Reuther, vice president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, served notice today that his union will seek a court injunction against the OPA if it sets new car prices "one cent" higher than those of 1942 models.

He said the injunction would be sought on an industry-wide basis, under provisions of the emergency price control act and in conformity with President Truman's policy that "wages can and must be increased without increasing prices."

Price Administrator Chester Bowles said Thursday night that new retail car prices will be announced next week. He would not hint what they are, but other OPA officials said they probably will be "considerably higher" than 1942 prices. Bowles said two months ago that new cars would cost "slightly more" than 1942 models.

PRESSURE ON BOWLES

Reuther, who is in charge of the General Motors division, told a news conference that "the automobile pressure boys are beating Bowles over the head" with threats to have OPA appropriations cut or other reprisals if he does not yield to their demands for higher prices.

He said his union will fight higher prices "just as hard as we are determined to fight for the 30 per cent increase in wage rates which unanswerable economic facts prove General Motors is well able to pay without increasing car prices one cent."

Reuther disclosed an exchange of letters with Bowles in which the latter refused to reveal the cost figures submitted by automobile manufacturers on which OPA will base retail prices. He said Bowles wrote that he was prohibited by law from making the information public.

"OUGHT TO CHANGE LAW"

Reuther said that if the law does that it ought to be changed, adding:

"The relationship of wages-prices and profits cannot be rigged in secret by selfish groups at the expense of the public interest. We renew our demand that all the facts be brought out in public and that all the cards be put on the table in public hearings."

He said it was "tragic" that the wage-price issue was not included in the agenda for the labor-management conference opening here Monday and that the CIO "will make every effort to have the issue placed at the top."

In support of his contention that industry can afford wage increases without price boosts, he cited the report made public Thursday by Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace. It held that an industry-wide wage increase of 10 per cent was possible without higher prices.

Rioters Smash, Loot Jewish Stores in Cairo

CAIRO, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Rioting anti-Zionists stormed through Cairo today smashing windows and looting Jewish business houses, and authorities estimated at least 290 civilian and 90 police were injured in the "Balfour Day" outbreak.

While no deaths were reported in Cairo, unofficial and entirely unconfirmed reports said seven persons were killed in similar riots in Alexandria.

Maj. Gen. T. W. Fitzpatrick, acting commandant in Cairo, said the situation was regarded as "well in hand" tonight, but Cairo police remained out in full force. Sudanese troops, armed with long whips, also stood at strategic points. He said 150 persons, mostly looters, were arrested.

Steel-helmeted police fired into the air, used tear gas, and swung clubs trying to disperse the crowds who seethed into Cairo streets on the 28th anniversary of the Lord Balfour note promising the Jews a national home in Palestine.

PALESTINE DISTURBANCES

In Palestine, where Balfour Day coincided with an announcement that Lord Gort had resigned as high commissioner, because of his health, disturbances accompanied a nationwide Arab general strike.

He referred to yesterday's organized attacks on Palestine's transportation system that cost five lives and wounded at least eight persons. He delivered the warning in Commons while announcing Lord Gort's resignation from the Palestine post.

Fitzpatrick said the Cairo rioting was kept from spreading to the European parts of the city. Foreign establishments in the riot area also were attacked.

He said a synagogue was set afire by the rioters with "fairly extensive" damage.

RIOTERS "LICK WOUNDS"

Declaring the rioters had "fought themselves out and are now licking their wounds," Fitzpatrick said he did not anticipate renewed outbreaks tomorrow. Only sporadic outbursts were noted in a drive through the city late today and tonight.

American troops were ordered into their barracks. Later British military police toured the city with sound trucks ordering Tommies to return immediately to quarters.

The rioting broke out in Mustafa Kemal square in the heart of the city, moved through the principal thoroughfares and all the main squares, and wound up with the greatest disorders in the Malika Farika square in the bazaar section.

Shop windows were smashed, with the Jewish-owned establishments suffering the heaviest. Some Jewish stores were looted.

ALERT SHOP OWNER

One alert Jewish shop owner hung an Egyptian flag from his window and the rioters ceased their bombardment with bricks.

The demonstrators marched also to Abdien palace, one of the residences of King Farouk. The king was not there, so the crowd returned to Mailka Farida square, named after Egypt's queen.

The route taken by the rioters was strewn with smashed glass.

The largest Jewish department store in Cairo was set afire, but the blaze was extinguished by fire brigades. Outside the Azahar mosque, largest in the Moslem world, police used tear gas in an effort to disperse the crowds, who hurled stones in return.

Java Fights Continue; Parley On

By RALPH MORTON

BATAVIA, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Sharp encounters with Indonesian extremists broke out in Batavia today after heavy fighting at Magelang was halted under a temporary truce negotiated with the aid of President Soekarno of the "Indonesian Republic."

Fighting in the capital began in Indonesian headquarters behind the Hotel des Indes, and snipers fired machineguns for an hour before British Seaforth Highlanders restored order. Casualties on both sides were believed light, said the Dutch news agency Aneta.

RAF planes again strafed Indonesian forces battling British Indian troops in Malegang before the truce was achieved. The planes also dropped supplies to the British forces at the naval base of Soerabaja, where a spokesman said the situation remained "very delicate."

Aneta quoted pilots returning from Soerabaja as saying they saw fighting in progress by the light of huge fires raging in the naval base city.

PARLEY IN PROGRESS

In Magelang, 180 miles southeast of Soerabaja, British and Indonesian representatives were conferring.

Last night one company of Ghurkas had been hard pressed in Magelang but the situation was relieved after reinforcements arrived. The RAF planes enabled the Ghurkas to reoccupy a part of the town and reduce danger to the Magelang hospital, where many women and children had taken refuge.

At Semarang, port city 45 miles northwest of Magelang, the situation remained quiet, perhaps because of the visit there by Soekarno.

Dutch forces were reported able to cope with roving unorganized bandits from east and central Java on the outskirts of Batavia. The Dutch estimated their number at approximately 30,000. They were making no concentrated attacks but fighting in packs of a few hundred.

Meanwhile Capt. T. L. Laughland, one of two officers who escaped from Soerabaja when British Brig. A. W. F. Mallaby was slain, returned to Batavia by air and was hospitalized.

A British headquarters report declared Mallaby was shot while leaning out of an automobile to answer someone who had called to him.

Du Pont To Spend Six Million, Process Fabrics at Tucker

In addition to manufacturing paints and varnishes, the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Company, Inc., will process fabrics—probably nylons and rayons—at its proposed Atlanta plant.

This was revealed yesterday in the company's advertised announcement for bids for the contract to build the huge plant.

Cost of the plant also was disclosed for the first time. It will be a $6,000,000 plant. Thus, a total of $12,000,000 worth of new plant construction lies ahead for DeKalb county. General Motors will build a $6,000,000 plant at Doraville.

The announcement also disclosed for the first time the definite site of the plant. It will be at Tucker, just beyond Emory University, on the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

Sugar Dealing Postponed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The government officially announced today postponement of negotiations for 1946 Cuban sugar until Dec. 4. It said "problems have developed which require further discussion in the two countries."

Rain at Game Time Threatens Grid Fans

Tech and Duke fans may be in for a disappointment this afternoon, because the weather man says rain may be due in Atlanta about game time.

The temperature is scheduled to rise from a low of 60 degrees to a high of 75 in the afternoon. Yesterday's low and high were 56 and 78.

Fulton Jurors Charge Favoritism, Self-Seeking in County Road Work

By CHRISTINE JONES.

In general presentments made public yesterday, the September-October term of the Fulton county grand jury charged "favoritism" in the resurfacing of many roads in the county, and further declared county money has been spent in work which is "purely a personal profit enterprise."

The grand jury investigated grading being done in several subdivisions in various parts of the county, which are private real estate enterprises, the presentments said. Work on two developments, known as Rolling Hills and the extension of West Peachtree street, has been done entirely by the county, the jurors claimed.

"In the Rolling Hills development, some $4,000 of county money has been expended in work which is purely a personal profit enterprise and not to the best interests of the public generally," the report said.

Commissioner Clarence Duncan recently charged Commissioner I. Gloer Hailey, chairman of the public works department, with ordering the work on Rolling Hills without the approval of the board. Hailey denied the charge, and said the board had given its approval.

The grand jury further stated that resurfacing of many areas which is now being done, whether by state or county, "has a distinct favoritism aspect" and gave as examples: resurfacing of Cherokee road and Habersham road. "This was not essential," the report added, "as these streets were in much better physical condition than others in adjoining areas."

"We also noted that practically all streets, except those which are either state or national highways, over which the suburban bus line runs on the Northside, have been resurfaced. This seems to be favoritism in street work," the presentments continued.

The grand jury also recommended a county manager. The jurors called "lack of integration" the "greatest weakness in the county government."

"The board of commissioners elected by the people should be a policy-determining body and should appoint the administrative head who would be responsible to them," the jury recommended.

"Sanitary conditions at many of the county schools are bad," the presentments said. The jury recommended an immediate survey by the school board to determine improvements necessary to immediately relieve overcrowded conditions and take care of the future growth of the county; to immediately purchase additional building sites and also additional land where needed to expand present schools.

"We insist that adequate provision be made in any bond issue for the necessary acquisition of land, construction and equipping of buildings to give this city and county school facilities in keeping with the highest standards of education," the jurors wrote.

Some men in the sheriff's office are drawing car mileage where they do not have a car, the presentments said. The payment of auto mileage to employes who use their cars is "not checked and badly abused," the report added. The jurors recommended a daily report of all car mileage be established in the department.

The jurors also recommended cleaner city and county jails, with new equipment as needed, especially in the kitchen of the county jail.

The jury said "commendable progress" has been made toward efficient and economical operation of the county government since civil service has been inaugurated, but added it was disappointed to find so many instances where officials and employes alike appear to be giving merely "lip service" to the plan.

The presentments were made public before Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of the Fulton Superior court, and were signed by J. Forsythe Gordy, chairman; Grady A. Lee, secretary, and other members of the jury.

Duke Ruled Touchdown Favorite In Annual Tilt With Tech Today

By JACK TROY
Constitution Sports Editor

The University of Georgia Bulldogs "rest up" this week in a game with Scrappy Moore's Chattanooga Moccasins at Chattanooga. The Bulldogs are somewhat bruised from their engagement with the unbeaten Crimson Tide of Alabama last week.

Duke's titanic Blue Devils, unbeaten in southern competition, rule a one-touchdown favorite in the annual game with Georgia Tech today at Grant field. Duke has won five of the last six games, the last two consecutively.

There will not be any ticket sale for the game, which has been a sellout for many weeks. Approximately 34,000 followers of the great fall sport will jam Grant field to see the Blue Devils and the Yellow Jackets match passes, runs and punts.

Tech will be heavily outweighed in line and backfield and may be meeting the largest team of the season, not excluding Notre Dame and Navy. Tech, incidentally, has not lost a southern game, either. Like Duke, the Jackets have been turned back only in intersectional competition, and against top teams of the nation.

For George Clark, Fred LaRue and Jack Knott the Tech game will wind up their careers for Duke. All three are being transferred elsewhere in the Navy program. Clark received his ensign's commission last week. He also took unto himself a bride.

Georgia Tech will be bolstered somewhat for the game with the addition of several boys who were on hand for last week's Auburn game. Notably, the additions include Billy Camp, tackle; Gordon Clay, Jack Helms and Jack Crawford, ends; Billy Williams, Spencer Keller, James Pettit and Charles Woodward, backs.

Tech has been working overtime on pass defense and pass offense this week. Coach Bobby Dodd figures Tech can't make too much headway running against the big Duke team and so has gone all out to sharpen the passing game.

Clark, rated a great runner, has come along in his passing. He is Duke's No. 1 tosser and stood out in the game against Army. Kelly Mote, the Atlanta boy who has been named captain for the game, caught three long passes against Army, two of them for touchdowns. Clark is Duke's leading scorer, with 42 points in five games. He was the difference in the Wake Forest game.

Now and then McNulty, the fullback, passes when Clark is in motion. Gordon Carver also does some of the passing.

Duke has generated quite an offensive, gaining 1,192 yards against South Carolina, Bogue field, Navy, Wake Forest and Army.

When it comes to blocking backs, Duke takes a back seat to no team. John Kriza, a hard rock

SEARCH FORESTS FOR MISSING BOY

DOWNIEVILLE, Calif. Nov. 2.— (UP) —Searching parties were sent into the Sierra Nevada forests today in a hunt for three-year-old Dickie Tum Suden, son of a wealthy California family, who has been missing in near-freezing weather since yesterday morning.

Dickie, a blond, wavy-haired child, disappeared while playing with his dog, Heidi, near the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tum Suden, four miles fro mDownieville.

The dog returned home. Dickie was not seen again after 9 a. m.

Three hundred GIs from the Camp Beale Army separation center near Marysville joined other hundreds of civilians and peace officers in the search which spread over a wide area of mountain terrain in this gold mining mother lode country.

The only possible clue to the boy's whereabouts was a mitten, found on a mine dump high on a nearby mountain.

District Attorney Alfred R. Lowery, of Sierra county, said there was no indication that the child had been kidnaped.

ONE WHEEL 'DID'

Happy Plus Landing, This Skidder

A Navy pilot skillfully brought his disabled trainer plane, with two passengers aboard, to a safe one-wheeled landing at the Naval air station here late yesterday after having discovered in midair that one of the wheels was damaged.

It was early in the afternoon while on a routine flight, in a single-engined Howard trainer that the fliers discovered their precarious situation of having only one good wheel on their fixed landing gear.

Radio from the control tower kept them in touch with the field. The pilot was ordered to circle the station until his gas ran out. So for hours the three fliers anxiously flew around and around, waiting for the tense moment that had to come.

Fire trucks and crash wagons were alerted and held in readiness for a possible accident. Emergency crews, officers and men on watch sweated it out on the ground until the plane came in.

Finally the last gas was consumed and the plane came skimming in for—an almost perfect one-wheel landing, skidding safely to a stop on the runway. There were no injuries and only a minimum of damage to the plane.

Navy authorities declined to name the pilot or his passengers in the tense little drama of the skies. But to them the term "happy landing" has a real meaning today.

Metal Toy Costs At New Figure

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Metal toys (if you can get them) will cost at least 15 per cent more this Christmas than in 1941.

OPA announced this today in reporting that manufacturers have been granted a 14 per cent increase in price ceilings.

The one bright spot, OPA said, is that even with the higher price, metal toys such as trains, trucks and scooters will cost less than similar toys made of wood.

FORDS ON SALE IN NEW YORK—$1,150

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(UP) Ford automobiles went on sale today in New York for $1,150. Among early buyers were Edgar Bergen, Merle Oberon, Phil Baker and Fred Waring.

The buyers, however, may have to pay an additional sum, based on expected OPA ceiling prices.

Communist Hordes Roll On Kweisui

CHUNGKING, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Twenty thousand Chinese Communists led by one of their top generals are besieging Kweisui, capital of rich Suiyuan province in Inner Mongolia, Chinese dispatches reported today.

The dispatches said the city was in grave danger and that thousands of inhabitants were pouring out in hurried flight.

Gen. Ho Lung, one of the most able Red commanders, is leading the attack, the dispatches said, as the Communists seek to widen their Suiyuan holdings and bar any overland movement of Central Government troops from Nima north into Manchuria.

Communist occupation of Kweisui would seriously interfere with any eastward drive of government commander Gen. Fu Tso-yi along the Peiping-Suiyuan railroad toward Red-held Kalgan, strategic rail center lying northwest of Peiping.

TATUNG STILL STANDS

Other dispatches today reported besieged Tatung, important rail junction in northern Shansi province, still as in the hands of its 10,000 Nationalist defenders, despite an attack by an estimated 100,000 Reds under the reported direction of Gen. Chu Teh, Communist commander-in-chief.

Official China awaited today the return from Washington of U. S. Ambassador Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley in the hope he might help avert full-scale civil war, while in Peiping Gen. Li Tsung-jen, highest ranking government officer in the strife-torn north, sounded a lonely note of optimism.

"There may be a small war now in China," between the Central Government and Chinese Communists, Li acknowledged, but "major differences can be decided by negotiations."

Hurley generally is credited with helping to bring the Chinese Communist leader, Gen. Mao Tse-tung, to Chungking to begin such negotiations. They now are deadlocked while sporadic battling marks the thrusts of government troops into the Red-dominated provinces of the north.

BLAMES COMMUNISTS

Li blamed Communists for current violence, said neither American men nor American equipment were being used against the Reds. He predicted that Communist efforts to control the north will fail because, he said, they lack both troops and popular support.

American Marines, Li asserted, "have seen enough fighting on Guadalcanal and Okinawa—there is no need for them to become involved in our internal troubles, which we will settle among ourselves."

Tientsin reported that the first contingent of 1,500 Marines sailed for home today from Taku. Approximately 70,000 have been scattered through the troubled north from Tsingtao to Tientsin, Peiping and Chinwangtao, disarming Japanese and waiting for Central Government troops to arrive and assume control.

Independence Demanded

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 2—(UP)—Korea's combined political parties, in a resolution addressed to the Allied Powers, today refused to accept anything short of complete independence. They also attacked U. S. Far Eastern policy, and demanded to know who was responsible for splitting the country into Russian and American occupation zones.

No Revolution

LONDON, Nov. 2—(AP)—The British government does not regard the changes in Brazil were a revolution and does not consider it necessary to give recognition to the new Brazilian government, a foreign office spokesman said today.

WANTED FOR TWO TAXICAB MURDERS

Scotland Yard Combs London for GI Gangster

By CARL LARSEN.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Two hundred policemen led by Scotland Yard aces searched London tonight for an American Army deserter from Chicago, suspected of introducing gangster tactics to London in the murder of two men, both killed in taxicabs.

While police sought the killer of Frank Everitt, former policeman who became a private detective, the body of Reuben Martirosov, international racketeer, was found. In both cases the killer used a small caliber revolver and apparently shot his victim in the back of the neck. It was believed robbery was the motive.

The Chicago suspect is known to have posed as an officer. Scotland Yard is convinced that he or another American is the murderer, saying that the crimes were not of British type.

The "Yard" asked Army authorities to aid in their search and to provide a list of all known American gangsters who had deserted the Army here.

In each of the murders the body was put in the back seat of the taxicab in which the victims were killed. Everitt's body later was removed and hidden in a pump house. Both men were killed about 2 a. m. on different days.

Martirosov is believed to have been a big black market operator and Everitt was understood to have been investigating black market conditions as a private detective. Hence it was possible that robbery was not the sole motive.

Martirosov had been expelled from five countries. He was deported from Britain in 1936 after being convicted of a jewel robbery. He returned here just before the war and was permitted to remain.

MANY APPLICATIONS

Serious Problems Face FCC In Radio Expansion--Porter

By WELLINGTON WRIGHT.

In order to discuss the problems of radio, Paul Porter, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, is in Atlanta to attend a series of informal conferences with the representatives of the broadcasting stations of Georgia. These conferences are taking place at the Biltmore hotel.

Porter, who arrived here from Washington by plane yesterday afternoon, said that the FCC faces many serious problems in its efforts to obtain an expansion of radio all over the country.

"There are from this state 22 applications pending for standard band (amplititude modulation) stations, in addition to the 31 stations already operating in this state," he said. "In addition, there were from Georgia 18 applications for frequency modulation stations, some of which we granted yesterday. Our difficulty is in reconciling the claims of those who desire to operate on the standard bands."

PROBLEMS IN COMMON

"I was glad to accept this invitation," Porter commented, "because it gives me a chance for the first time to meet some of the Georgia broadcasters. We have many problems in common and it will do us good to talk things over."

Porter, a native of Winchester, Ky., lived in Georgia from 1931 to 1933, when he was editor of the LaGrange News. At the same time, he was counsel for General Newspapers, Inc. Then he went to Washington and after serving as a newspaper correspondent became associated with OPA. During the presidential campaign of 1944 he acted as publicity director for the Democratic National Committee. He became a member of the FCC in December, 1944.

"The FCC desires to bring about an expansion of broadcasting operations not only in Georgia but also all over the United States. But there are many problems and difficulties involved here and during these conferences I expect to have the opportunity to discuss them frankly with the Georgia broadcasters.

CONGESTED FIELD

"In our desire to bring about a rapid expansion of broadcasting for the country as a whole, we in the FCC face the fact that there are already 930 standard band stations, with applications pending for 450 new stations. Obviously, we can't get the desired expansions overnight. The radio spectrum in the standard band—that is, in the amplitude modulation range—is already congested and how to expand it with a larger number of stations is the problem.

"There are also pending before the FCC, about 700 applications for frequency modulation stations, a few of which we granted yesterday.

"Now, I'm hoping that those people who have broadcasting ambitions will devote attention more and more to frequency modulation, which, according to the best informed opinion, is ultimately the coming thing in radio. This is especially desirable since it often becomes technically impossible to grant an application for a station in the standard band area.

COMPETITIVE SYSTEM

"With frequency modulation, it is possible within the continental United States to have 4,000 or 5,000 F. M. stations, as contrasted with less than 1,000 stations in the standard band limits. It is the belief of the FCC that frequency modulation offers the opportunity for a truly competitive radio system—in other words, for a truly democratic system. We are working to bring this about. Naturally, we want the aid of all broadcasters."

At an informal dinner at the Biltmore last night, Porter talked about these problems to a group of 40 broadcasters and their guests. Hosts for the dinner were Ernest Black and L. D. Baggs, radio operators, who own a station in Macon.

The radio conferences will continue this morning. During the afternoon Porter expects to return by plane to Washington.

DASH FROM GEORGIA

Kipp, Bride Reach Coast; Taxi $750?

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 2.—(AP) Marine Capt. Harry E. Kipp, whose transcontinental trip, reportedly in a taxicab, with his bride led to a search by newspapermen from coast to coast, today reported in at Camp Pendleton at Oceanside, Cal.

Unable to obtain train reservations for the 3,000-mile trip from LaFayette, Ga., the home of his bride, and with his leave running out, Kipp hired a taxicab for $750 to take him from LaFayette to San Diego.

However, on arriving at Camp Pendleton, Kipp learned his orders had been changed and he was scheduled to report to the Quantico, Va., Marine base. He never received these orders and proceeded here with his bride, the former Miss Norma Clinton, of LaFayette.

Camp Pendleton officers said Kipp will have temporary duty at the camp's boat basin, teaching advanced gunnery, until new orders arrive from Marine headquarters in Washington.

A native of Silver Creek, Minn., Kipp had been engaged to his bride 13 months by mail. He met her on Oct. 1 and married the next day.

Truman Backs Federal Pay Raise of 5th

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The White House today threw its weight behind a proposal to boost civil service pay by 20 per cent.

Sen. Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, protested immediately that such a boost would "set standards for the entire country."

The Virginian did not go into the question of whether that was the administration's intent. He talked about effects.

Arthur S. Flemming, civil service commissioner who stated the White House views, replied in advance to anybody who may interpret the backing for a civil service boost as a tip-off on policy toward pay in general. He argued that government workers' pay scales now are below the levels of private industry and a raise is needed to bring them "to a plane of equality."

CABINET MEMBERS, TOO

The administration indorsement for the 20 per cent increase for the bulk of government workers was accompanied by a recommendation that the pay of congressmen, the federal judiciary, and the top bracket in the administrative branch — such as cabinet members—go up $10,000 a year. For congressmen and most judges that would be a 100 per cent increase.

Also included in the administration indorsement was higher pay for other government officials, such as undersecretaries and assistant secretaries and agency heads. Nothing was said about the President's pay.

Flemming told the committee he was authorized to state that the 20 per cent raise would be "in conformity with the program of the President." All the increases, he said, would come within "the government's wage stabilization policy."

The civil service chief told the committee—which has before it a bill by Sen. Downey, Democrat, California, embodying the 20 per cent boost—that the higher scales are among steps needed to "make the United States government stand out as one of the most progressive employers of the nation."

COST $415,570,000

Cost of the whole program was estimated by Flemming at $415,570,000 a year, based on his figure of 860,000 affected civil service employes on next June 30.

This would be a sharp drop from the 1,221,000 on the federal payroll as of Sept. 30 who would be affected by the proposed pay increase.

Byrd took issue with the estimated decline in federal payrolls. "Present tendencies" do not indicate such a drop by next June, he asserted at the committee session.

More than 800,000 postal service workers would not be included in the pay raise, he added. He predicted that they would demand, and said they should have, equal treatment.

Boy Nearing Death Enjoys Gift Toys

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2.—(AP)—A 5-year-old leukemia victim, Eugene Totaro, happily rocked to and fro on a new hobby horse today, unaware that doctors expect his birthday today may be his last.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Totaro, watched him with heavy hearts. They hoped that someone familiar with leukemia would offer some advice on how to keep Eugene alive a little longer.

After two weeks' hospital treatment, the boy was sent home recently—to die. Doctors, reporting the disease incurable, give him but a few weeks to live.

FFC CHAIRMAN VISITS ATLANTA—Paul Porter, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, is here for informal conferences with Georgia broadcasters over problems of radio. These meetings will be held today at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

Suicide Out As Cause of Duff's Death

DeKalb county authorities investigating the death of Joseph W. Duff, telephone company executive whose body was found in a burning automobile on Moreland avenue 11 days ago, have turned away from any theory of suicide and narrowed their probe into possibilities that Mr. Duff was either poisoned or that his death was accidental.

A preliminary autopsy report by Dr. Herman Jones, Oglethorpe University toxicologist, revealed the presence of atropine, a commonly used but deadly drug, in Mr. Duff's stomach.

Because atropine, although used in a number of medical preparations, is a drug little known to the public, authorities are discounting any possibility that Mr. Duff might have known about the drug and taken it deliberately with suicidal intent. They reason that anyone bent on self-destruction in such a manner would be more likely to know about and use some better known poison.

In his autopsy report to Solicitor General Roy Leathers of the Stone Mountain superior court, Dr. Jones did not reveal the strength of the atropine found in Mr. Duff's stomach and intestines, but said that a fraction of a grain of the drug has been known to cause death in a few minutes. Dr. Jones reiterated a statement made last week that Mr. Duff had died prior to the burning of the automobile. The toxicologist said that the presence of alcohol found in the stomach, intestines and blood was not sufficient to have rendered Mr. Duff overly intoxicated.

DeKalb Police Chief Leo Nahlik said yesterday that he has not questioned Robert F. Johnson any further in the case, pending a report on the analysis of residue taken from the burned automobile and sent to FBI headquarters in Washington for scrutiny. Chief Nahlik declined to disclose the nature of the residue. It is believed possible, however, that such an analysis might determine any presence of inflammables in the car.

Johnson, a plumbing company employe, was ordered held by the coroner's jury in the case. He has admitted being with Mr. Duff immediately before the burning car was discovered in a driveway at 1156 Moreland avenue, S. E., claiming that while he was driving the car, Mr. Duff had gone to sleep on the back seat. He said when the automobile burst into flames he was unable to awaken Mr. Duff.

IL DUCE'S BRAIN DOESN'T EXPLAIN

He said that still incomplete study of the specimens has disclosed "no disease of structural abnormalities" such as often account for personality traits.

JAPAN-WASHINGTON SUPERFORTRESSES BUILT AT BELL'S MARIETTA PLANT

The four B-29 Superfortresses which Thursday night completed the first nonstop flight from Japan to Washington are all products of the Marietta Bell Bomber plant, Jimmy Carmichael, manager of the Georgia division of Bell Aircraft, has announced.

Completed last spring at the Marietta plant, they were part of the special wing of ships built there for Brig. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong, deputy commander of the 20th Air Force, and commander of plane No. 1, which landed at the National airport in Washington at 7:30 p. m., Thursday. The 4 B-29s left Japan at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday.

RFC Offers South Chance To Develop

The south's golden chance to industrialize itself, without benefit of eastern capital, is now offered by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

This opinion was expressed yesterday by W. Stuart Symington, national surplus property administrator, in an interview at RFC's regional office. Here on a three-day tour of inspection and consultation with surplus property officials and city and county leaders, Symington pointed out why the south has an unprecedented opportunity for development from within, because of the war.

His own industrial background adds authority to his words when the federal administrator talks "business." As president of the Emerson Manufacturing Company, St. Louis, Mo., he was credited with putting the concern on its feet, building it to a boom with war contracts for turrets used in aerial defense, and laying sound plans for reconversion and expanded production of peacetime products. His labor relations record has been called "enviable."

Symington said that the three sure-fire reasons why the south's new reconstruction can be accomplished by its own businessmen were insured by available capital, equipment and skilled labor already in the south.

Tremendous supplies of capital equipment are being sold by RFC with preference given to small business, on cost terms, with a nominal down payment. With the large number of war plants in the south, this equipment is already on hand for inspection and purchase by southern industrialists. Bell Aircraft has already sold millions of dollars worth of such machinery of "excellent quality and the most modern design." Additional equipment is to be declared.

Capital for buying surplus equipment can be obtained from RFC also without recourse to eastern wealth, it was pointed out.

And the same war plants that made this equipment available, trained southern laborers to run these machines, thus preparing a ready skilled labor market.

Newly organized industry would have a clean slate and an excellent opportunity for establishing friendly labor relations with ex-war workers seeking employment, Symington added. In addition, management has developed industrial "know how."

"All that's needed is initiative, and this region has a growing reputation for that, too," he said. "I see nothing in the way of re-reconstruction of the south."

Parole Board Saves Brady From Chair

John M. Brady, 54-year-old former Marion county rural mail carrier, has been saved from the electric chair by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, which split, 2-to-1, in making the decision.

The board, by a vote of 2-to-1, voted yesterday to commute Brady's death sentence to life imprisonment. Grover C. Byars and Mrs. Helen Williams Coxon voted for the commutation and Edward B. Everett, chairman of the board, cast his ballot against it.

Mrs. Coxon and Byars said, in their decision to favor the commutation, that they wished to go on record as opposing any clemency in the future for Brady. "It is our opinion that he should serve his life sentence," the two members stated.

Chairman Everett dissented on the application for commutation, saying "the crime committed was not the result of an accident as contended by the defense counsel" and that he "failed to see any extenuating circumstances which would justify a modification of the sentence imposed."

FOUGHT WITH PATCH

Vet Killed In Crash Day After Return

Twenty-four hours after he returned to his Dunwoody home after fighting through Italy, France and Germany, Joe C. Gerrell, a former member of Gen. Patch's famous Seventh Army, was killed when the automobile in which he was riding sideswiped the abutment on the Southern railroad overpass on Piedmont road.

Gerrell, who arrived in Atlanta Thursday, after receiving his discharge in Virginia on Wednesday, had spent several hours at his home with his parents.

Last night, he and his younger brother, Billy Gerrell, and C. L. Miller, of 651 Wallace street, N. W., were going north on Piedmont road enroute to visit other friends whom Joe Gerrell had not seen since going overseas some 30 months ago.

Miller, driver of the car, was so prostrated with grief he could not explain to Fulton County Policemen Carl Thompson and Steve Nicholas how the accident occurred.

The policemen said the car apparently sideswiped one of the steel uprights, and the former soldier sustained a blow on the head which fractured his skull, causing his death before medical aid could reach the scene.

Miller and Billy Gerrell were only slightly injured.

While overseas, Joe Gerrell was in the thick of the battles in the European theater after Patch landed in southern France. He received seven citations for gallantry, and also the Purple Heart.

Must Aid World, McGill Declares

ROME, Ga., Nov. 2.—Ralph McGill, editor of The Atlanta Constitution, said today that he hoped the people of the United States are aware of their responsibility in world affairs, and that while he does not advocate reducing our standard of living, he feels that it will be morally wrong, if we, the greatest Christian nation, with the greatest amount of consumer goods in the world, do not share them with the impoverished people of the world.

He spoke at a Community Day program at the First Baptist church, sponsored by the Rome Council of Church Women.

Dr. Bunyan Stephens, pastor of the church, introduced McGill, saying, "He has the greatest influence on the thinking of the people of Georgia."

Army-Navy Tiffed As War Raged, General Charges

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Gen. George C. Kenney told senators today that time was lost in the war against Japan while the Army and Navy argued and compromised.

"If such delays resulted in prolonging the war just one day, what price can we place upon the lives thus lost?" he asked.

He asserted the war had demonstrated that a single over-all command is required for victory in a theater. He said he was "unable to understand" the arguments of those who oppose unification of the War and Navy Departments under a single cabinet secretary.

Kenney, who commanded Gen. MacArthur's air arm for three years, testified before the military committee which is considering service merger legislation. He urged immediate consolidation "with co-equal, co-ordinate combat arms of land, sea and air."

The Navy has disagreed strongly. The sea service's position was exemplified by a statement filed with the committee, today by the Navy league, which identified itself as a nonprofit educational organization of civilians formed in 1922 to support the Navy.

The league urged at least a year of study before congress acts on the merger proposal and said the shift would be "a grab for power."

Jap Prisoner Is Welcomed To Eatonton

Special to THE CONSTITUTION

EATONTON, Ga., Nov. 2.—To celebrate the return of Rufus Clopton, for three years a prisoner of the Japs, members of the Concord Methodist church, near here, are preparing a "home-coming party" on Sunday. Clopton arrived here this week.

There will also be an element of sadness in the event. For Harris Carter, another Putnam county boy, who was in prison in the Philippines with Clopton, died in a ship torpedoed en route to Japan. Clopton was on another ship in the same convoy.

Clopton, a veteran of Bataan and Corregidor, weighed 98 pounds when Americans released him from his prison at Osaka, Japan. He now weighs 145 pounds.

In discussing his prison experience, Clopton says that the reports of Japanese atrocities are in no wise exaggerated. Brutal treatment, lack of food and scarcity of sanitary equipment—all these, he says, became a matter of routine. He was one of those who happened to survive the "march of death."

IN DEATH MARCH

Clopton was first at Corregidor. Then he went over to Bataan and later back to Corregidor. He was on "the rock" when Gen. Wainwright surrendered to the Japs.

Until July, 1944, Clopton worked at prison camps in the Philippines.

"I nearly starved to death," he said. "But the Filipinos were friendly and managed to slip us a little food occasionally. The Japs constantly threatened us. They told us that if one of us escaped they would execute 10 of our buddies. So, none of us tried to escape.

"Then, in July, 1944, they put a lot of us in ships and headed for Japan. An American submarine sank one of the ships in that convoy, the ship that Harris Carter was on. I was on another ship. On our ship, there was panic for a few minutes, but a Catholic priest, who was a chaplain, came among us and quieted the panic. The rest of us got to Japan and they put us to work in the lead mines near Osaka.

"There our treatment was even more brutal than in the Philippines. There we had no friendly Filipinos to slip us food. I was sick quite a bit but the camp had two doctors and I managed to survive.

THANKS RED CROSS

"I owe my life, in fact, to Red Cross bundles. These became so valuable that the doctors held them for the sick prisoners and the food and medicines the Red Cross sent saved my life twice when I was sick. I suppose I was more lucky than a lot of the others.

Clopton says that all the prisoners in the camp had to sleep on mats thrown on the ground. During his period of imprisonment, he received seven letters and one cablegram from home.

"I was always so hungry," continued Clopton, "that I spent a good part of my time in imagining recipes for tasty food. One of my buddies made a game of recalling all the kinds of chocolate bars he had ever heard of."

"On the day of the Japanese surrender to the Allies, the Japs brought us two horses to eat. That was for 600 men and it wasn't enough to go around. But it was the most generous portion of food we ever received at one time while in prison."

While on Bataan, Clopton went on a scouting mission and cut a Jap telephone line. For this, the Army has recommended him for a Silver Star.

At the "homecoming" celebration Sunday Frank P. Denham will be the principal speaker. Others who will be present are Clopton's five brothers — Lem Clopton, of Miami, Fla.; King Clopton, of West Palm Beach, Fla.; Walter C., Cuyler and Frank Clopton, all of Eatonton.

Rufus, the son of W. T. Clopton, a farmer, enlisted in the Army in February, 1941 and went immediately to the Philippines. His mother died while he was in prison.

U.-Ga. Costs Shaved By Military Cutbacks

The cost of training soldiers and the cost of training sailors greatly reduced, the University of Georgia's operating expenses during the past fiscal year decreased nearly $700,000, State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. has reported.

Total operating costs for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1945 were $2,707,019, as compared with $3,406,284 in the preceding year. The Army Specialized Training Program, which cost $434,117 in 1944, was eliminated, and the Navy training cost was reduced from $502,412 to $406,334.

Student enrollment increased from 1,243 to 1,461.

Contractors Told To File Navy Claims at Once

Contractors having claims against the government on account of termination of contracts with the Navy are urged by W. John Kenny, deputy to Assistant Secretary of the Navy Struve Hansel, in charge of contract termination to present them at once.

Here to meet Navy representatives of the southeast yesterday, Kenny said delay by contractors in presenting claims had slowed down liquidation of surplus property and clearance of plants for civilian use.

He pointed out that the Navy now has the personnel to dispose of all claims promptly, but that in a few months naval personnel would dwindle.

Kenny said 79 per cent of approximately 1,500 contracts with the Navy in the southeast already had been liquidated without cost to the government. This high percentage, he went on, is mainly due to the fact that many of the materials used, such as lumber and textiles, could rapidly be converted to civilian use.

An anticipated 21 per cent have claims and it is these that the Navy is trying to expedite.

With Kenny was R. Adm. Harry L. Merring and Capt. R. Moore Watt. Attending the conference at the Biltmore was Capt. W. A. Brooks, inspector in charge of the Atlanta Navy Material office. Other Naval inspectors from all over the southeast were present.

Lt. Cmdr. A. E. Moore, representing the Bureau of Aeronautics in the southeast, revealed that among the Atlanta contracts terminated was that of the Firestone Company for Naval rocket motors. The Firestone company for 10 months prior to V-J Day produced 300,000 to 400,000 rocket motors, he said.

Mrs. R. L. Turman Named

Mrs. R. L. Turman, of Atlanta, has been named chairman of the tax study committee of the Women's Division of the State Democratic party, Mrs. Herbert Fay Gaffney, division chairman, announced yesterday. The committee will study the tax structure in Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia and submit comparison reports at meetings of the division throughout the state starting Nov. 17.

PRAYER
BRINGS RESULTS

IN NORTH AFRICA, in Europe, in the Southwest Pacific, and elsewhere, the world has been witnessing stirring examples of answered prayer.

Food, water, safety, greater effectiveness, and healing of sickness and wounds, have been acutely needed, and have come through prayer. Even skeptics, seeing the results, have been convinced.

What, broadly, is the meaning of these experiences? Is there a kind of prayer that can be counted on — that is definitely available and availing under all conditions?

The answer to this question, Christian Science shows, is an unqualified Yes. The words of the Founder of Christianity, "Ask, and ye shall receive"—words which bore no hint of an exception—are revealed in this teaching as a statement of pure Science.

The first chapter of the Christian Science textbook, SCIENCE and HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy explains the spiritually scientific and unfailing prayer, or treatment. Study of this chapter has brought to great numbers of people the healing, protection, or other help that was immediately needed, and given them in addition a permanently useful understanding of prayer.

There are seventeen other similarly valuable chapters in the book.

Science and Health can be had in cloth at $2 or $3, or in morocco leather (brown, blue, or black) at $5. Sent postpaid, on receipt of price, by Alfred Pittman, Publishers' Agent, One, Norway Street, Boston 15, Massachusetts, or obtainable at

Rabun Gab Holdens 'Do' Atlanta Royally

After a two-day enchanted visit to Atlanta as guest of the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee Club, the Holden family yesterday returned to the Rabun Gap school in north Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Coburn Holden and their four children—Kenneth, 3; Helen, 5; Ruth, 7, and Kathryn, 9—were entertained royally in Atlanta. They met Gov. Arnall, had lunch with Mayor Hartsfield, toured historic spots in the city's official welcoming car and were guests at several luncheons.

The Holdens were elected by popular vote among the 18 families living on the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee school farm. They are a part of the farm family educational plan of the school.

Minister Declares Italy Can't Pay Reparations

ROME, Nov. 1—(AP)—Foreign Minister Alcide de Gasperi declared tonight Italy could not pay reparations and said seizure of Italian property abroad as reparations was "not acceptable" in view of Italian losses resulting from co-belligerency with the Allies against Germany.

Addressing a "popular solidarity day" crowd, De Gasperi was interrupted by cries of "long life America" when he thanked President Truman for the tone of the President's Columbus Day address.

Gen. Lucius Clay Back in Capital

Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, of Marietta, Ga., deputy military governor in the American zone of occupation in Germany, has returned from Germany to Washington for a series of conferences, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Gen. Clay, brother of Ryburn Clay, of Atlanta, was accompanied by Robert Murphy, legal advisor to Gen. Eisenhower, governor of the zone. He was assigned temporary office space in the Pentagon building and was in conference with War Department officials during the day.

War Department officials said they had received no word as to whether Gen. Eisenhower also would visit Washington soon.

Missouri Officials To See Tech Game

The Old Guard Still in Power

Amazingly enough, it is John Bricker and not Tom Dewey who has gained most in Republican prestige during the past two years.

Gov. Dewey, for all his efforts to maintain party leadership, has slipped considerably with GOP rank and file, while Bricker, although out of office and the public eye, is the Republicans' fair-haired boy at present.

This is shown in a survey made by "The Republican," national party magazine, a survey which seems to bear out the contentions of those who said that, after his defeat at the hands of President Roosevelt, Dewey could expect little from a party which traditionally fails to renominate a beaten candidate.

The survey was broken down into two parts, 4,249 Republican county chairmen, state committee members and other party officials being asked if they agreed with the (1) foreign policy and (2) domestic policy of 14 national GOP leaders.

Combining the returns on the two questions, the magazine found the candidates rated in the following order: Bricker, 58.1 per cent; Vandenberg, 55.4 per cent; Hoover, 51.6 per cent; Dewey, 50.7 per cent, and Stassen, 49.3 per cent.

Just what all this proves with regard to the GOP candidate for 1948 is a matter for speculation. One thing, though, is clear: As of today, the old guard is still in power.

Luther H. Still

Luther H. Still, for 42 years one of the most beloved men of The Constitution family, died on Thursday.

Luther Still was a man blessed with that gift of supreme value, the gift of friendship. All who knew him today remember him for the gentle, kindly smile which hovered, ever ready, on his lips. Not a man or woman or child with whom he came in contact during his long life but can remember a kindness received, a help in time of need, from Luther Still.

He was widely known. As a member of the Georgia house of representatives for three terms he served his state with distinction. As a leader in the affairs of organized labor he was honored and respected by management and workers alike. As an arbitrator in labor disputes he was successful because he held the confidence of both sides, always.

Luther Still served his city and state and time well. His passing leaves an unfillable gap, but his memory will remain, for many years to come, as inspiration to those who carry on in his place.

No, A Thousand Times, No!

The agitation and determination of the senator who delivered the famous "Change the Name of Arkansas" speech will pale into insignificance when compared with the wrath of those who learn that a unified command would mean the elimination of the United States Marines as a separate and distinct fighting force.

The Marines, who came into being before the writing of the Declaration of Independence, are America's first fighting unit and the one with the greatest history of fighting.

In the war just concluded 98 per cent of the corps' officers and about 92 per cent of its entire personnel saw active service overseas. The Marines are fighters, not office workers or rear echelon troops. They are fighting specialists who, while granting full credit and admiration to the Army and Navy and Air Force, know full well it was they who went ashore to take the islands which made possible air bases from which to bomb Japan.

If there must be a unified command, there is still no reason to touch the Marines. Leave them alone with their winter greens, their dress blues and their firm belief they are the best troops in the world.

The Army brass hats had best look out. It may be true, as the song says, that:

"If the Army or the Navy ever look on heaven's scenes,
They will find the streets are guarded by United States Marines."

Camp Wheeler a Tuberculosis Sanitarium?

The possibility of Camp Wheeler being taken over by the state for a tuberculosis sanitarium is an interesting one.

We had thought that, since its record as a basic training site was one of the best in the nation, it would most certainly be utilized in the proposed compulsory military training program.

However, there seems a very real if unworthy reluctance on the part of congress to adopt such a program at this time. Moreover, ample other camps are available for training the nation's youth should common sense finally prevail and such a program be put into effect. For that reason, discussion of Wheeler's possibilities as a supplement to Alto seems very much in order.

At any rate, we are gratified that the state gives indication of making the best possible use of surplus military facilities wherever possible. It is an example which various county and local governments would do well to follow.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters from its readers. They must be signed, should not exceed 200 words.

Invisible Empire

Editor, Constitution: Your valuable paper of Wednesday, Oct. 24, published an editorial, "The 'Hate Money' Runs a Little Thin." Barnum is quoted, Gerald Smith and the Ku Klux Klan are given publicity. Hate organizations are referred to and their sucker list discussed. The editorial writer beating his tom-tom about Gerald Smith and the Ku Klux Klan, both dead issues, wishes to detract the attention of the public from his exploitation of the Barnum one-a-minute group. He fails to tell us that his racket is the multiple type, operating under various names, soliciting funds from the public purse and using the money collected for purposes inconsistent with unity, patriotism, American principles and traditions.

Myself coming under Barnum's definition, I have never attracted the attention of Gerald Smith, neither am I honored with membership in the Ku Klux Klan or any other hate organization.

The display of the seeds of disunity in the cartoon in the same issue of The Constitution leaves out the international do-gooders, one worlders, social planners, communists and other prevalent types. Perhaps they are yet in the apron of the sower. I like that figure in the cartoon. To me it typifies the birth of the nation I love. Every American, be his color or creed what it may, knows that in the darkest hour of the life of the south, when our wounded people lay helpless and hungry, amid rags and ashes, under the beak and talon of the vulture, suddenly from the mist of the mountains there appeared a white cloud, the size of a man's hand, strangely resembling the raiment of the figure in the cartoon. It grew until its mantle of mystery infolded a stricken earth and sky. An invisible empire had risen from the field of death and challenged the visible to mortal combat. That spirit has won the war, that spirit will shape the peace. That spirit, Mr. Editor, made possible the country that supports your paper. That spirit marches on.

First Team

Editor Constitution: Now that Byrnes, Bevin and Molotov apparently fumbled the ball at the foreign ministers' conference, isn't it about time to bring our first team back into play? Naturally, I'm referring to Truman, Stalin and Attlee, who obviously accomplished a lot more in their last meeting than their unschooled ministers of foreign affairs.

Perhaps these gentlemen did not sit down to talk with their minds properly framed with the attitude of mutual good will. This, after all, should have been the keynote of the whole affair; a real genuine determination that no problems to be discussed eclipsed in importance the bond of relationship of England, Russia and the United States, which proved so very successful in terminationg the recent horrible wars on both fronts.

It is sheer folly to fumble the ball of international co-operation by a clash of personalities and their inflated temperaments. Let's advocate a return engagement of the three wise men, whose meetings spell success and real accomplishment of the aims of all nations.

CHARLES L. BIRD.
Atlanta.

Suspicion

Editor Constitution: It is good to find someone like Gladstone Williams (Oct. 24) with the courage to say that writers who continue to pour out poisonous suspicions against Russia should be curbed.

It is time the sensible people in the United States realize we can no longer afford to let license of the press go on masquerading as freedom of the press. It is sheer stupidity to do so with the world in the chaotic state it is, with nerves raw and minds suspicious of everybody, and just now especially of the United States.

We can no longer afford to let our nationally stupid ones with their lack of common sense prevent, by their vociferousness, our coming to workable terms with Russia. Sanity forbids.

Robert Quillen's column (Oct. 23) should wake up our potentially sensible people. Suspicion is a most destructive force, and should be overcome by facts, understanding and tolerance.

Well, the Old Lady Did Have a Shoe

Persons who constantly are amazed at themselves, find themselves living in tourist camps, in cramped, uncomfortable rooms-for-rent; in second-rate hotel quarters—and entertaining a sort of happiness over their lot—everything being, as Mr. Einstein informed us, relative.

Real estate men are in the condition commonly described as "psychotic," or, more generally, "nuts."

Some of the public, with rooms and apartments or houses to rent, are indulging the streak of Jesse James that is in many of us. They are ignoring the real estate rental offices and going in for the personal ads. They will rent you an apartment or a house if you will buy a lot of shabby furniture that is in it, and put down, too, a good sum of bonus, or "thank-you" money.

It is a situation fraught with, as they say, tragedy and sorrow, inconvenience, chiseling and downright suffering.

Soldiers are returning to their home towns from long years of service: often from prison camps and hospitals, sick or minus a leg or arm, and trying to start up housekeeping again with the little woman, who has been faithful all through the long years of absence . . . only to find that there simply isn't a place to be had.

What most of the crowded cities don't realize is they have had a permanent increase in population.

Answer There is but one solution, of course, and that is to build some more housing.

And there's the rub.

Construction costs are a jolt.

That is true whether the prospective builder is a young "GI" just out of service with his "GI" loan and plans for a very modest bungalow, or of a business with hundreds of thousands or even millions to put into building. Costs are a jolt.

They are running 30 to 50 per cent above prewar costs and are still rising.

Houses built as long as 20 years ago are selling at 50 to 75 per cent above their first cost of 20 years ago. Certainly, that is ridiculous, but even more ridiculous is the fact that it is all too true.

There are ceiling prices on rents—as unfortunately there must be. By no means all rental agencies and individuals would make the sky the ceiling, but there would be enough rent hogs to add that much to the snowball of inflation. Removal of ceilings would really complicate things.

So, there will be ceilings on rents—for good reason.

And ceilings on rents because, happily, good reason and politics join.

Deterrents But all these combine to deter building. Renters are going to be slow building their own homes. Real estate companies will be slow building because they are held, by ceiling prices, to rentals close to prices of 1941.

So, if they build a new apartment building they cannot charge more than they are getting for an equivalent building of 1941 or earlier.

It would seem fitting that some sort of survey, or re-estimate of this situation, might be made.

An increase—for new apartments—or houses—of about 15 per cent would not seem out of line. Also it might mean some building.

By late spring the real building boom should be under way, according to figures by economists of labor and management.

It would seem, with all the crowding, there should be some areas of the United States where there is plenty of housing. There are some—notably about most of the big war plants in aviation.

But, by and large, the cities that are going forward are going to be crowded until housing is built. Departure of Army personnel in these areas will not ease it. For the simple reason they have got what most of them do not realize—a heavy increase in permanent population.

It is a big job—big enough to challenge government and private builders—with the big job to be done by the latter.

But it must be done—and will.

Surely, Argument Not Needed This Time

The Victory Loan is now under way. The war is over, but the necessity for all of us to buy bonds has not passed. The cost of the war will not cease until all the men we sent overseas to do our fighting, all the men who served on this side, are discharged, out of uniform and civilians once again.

Not all, even at that, can come home. We must maintain armies of occupation in the lands of the former enemies for years to come. If we want to keep our national economy reasonably safe, we must supply the money to meet those heavy costs out of some other source than taxes. For we insist taxes must go down.

After all, it is better for us, as individuals, to meet the costs by lending the government money for which we get back at the rate of four for three, than by taxes, which never come back.

But, really, it shouldn't be necessary, this time, to go into the lengthy arguments on why you should buy bonds. Ballyhoo and inducement, other than the cold economic facts, shouldn't be needed.

There is one smashing, personal fact which we all know and which should be all necessary to make us dig out the surplus dollars and put 'em into the safest and best available investment—Uncle Sam's bonds.

That fact is there is a time coming when most of us will need that reserve, that anchor in the financial shoals, to protect us in some coming emergency.

It Comes to All Emergency need for money comes to practically everyone, sooner or later.

There is sudden sickness. Hospital, operation, nurses, all costing money.

You'll be mighty thankful for those cashable bonds when such a time comes.

You may, someday, be out of a job. The bonds you buy today will stand by you when paying for the groceries and the rent and the other necessities of life.

Some day you'll be getting too old to keep up the old work strain. Old age pensions will help, but at best they are small.

You may be unable to find a house or apartment to rent. But there could be one to buy. The bonds you've salted away might provide the down payment.

There are thousands of needs coming—you can think of them better than anyone else—and a few bonds safe in the bank could mean, many times, all the difference between independence and charity, between salvation and tragedy.

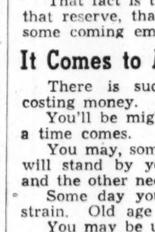

What You Can Do Unless statistics are reasonably interesting and, also, are available at the moment, they don't go into this column. However, I have seen tabulations of what you can do with, say, $1,000 worth of these bonds by reinvesting each ten years, as they mature. Supposing, for instance, you are youngish—say in your twenties—now.

You invest $750 in bonds today. At the end of ten years you cash 'em for $1,000.

So you reinvest your $1,000 and, at the end of the second ten years, you have something around $1,333. You reinvest that. In its ten years, you have—oh, work it out yourself. About $1,800.

For the previous bond campaign, the Seventh, this district bought an average of $34 per person. To meet our quota for this, the Eighth, the Victory Bond drive, all we need to buy is $10 worth, each of us.

That should be easy.

"Justice Department requests supreme court to look over 'Esquire's' lightly clad ladies to decide if publication is entitled to second-class mailing privilege."—News item.

The day is done, the darkness falls along the courtroom's stately walls,
Now ends the labor for the day, the musty tomes are put away;
Great problems that perplex the mind, forgotten now are left behind,
And, doffing cap and flowing gown, the justice lays his gavel down,
Puts off his stern and solemn mien and fumbles through a magazine.
A light comes in his dimming eye and then he heaves a wheezing sigh
As he beholds a vision fair with sinuous curves and golden hair,
A figure you will never find except in some great artist's mind.
His frigid blood begins to seethe, he struggles as he tries to breathe,
And over his poor lonely soul a flood of golden memories roll.
Oh, fame, oh, pomp and place of power, where is the glory of the hour
Lost on the hard and bitter way which promised some great shining day?
What good to simply sit and look at ladies pictured in a book
While humble lads of twenty-one can find the live ones greater fun
And revel in a world of beauty instead of doing it for duty?

Letter to The Redhead

I suppose all parents, like a hen with one chick, do a lot of unnecessary worrying and squawking to protect their young from real or imaginary dangers. But since we can't be perfect, it is better to err on the side of too much than too little guidance. Seeing you fall into a trap would hurt twice as much if I could have warned you and failed.

The tragedy of our race is that each generation, no matter how well advised, must learn some things by experience. Without instinct to guide us, we must depend upon reason, and it develops slowly.

I believe 99 per cent of the people would lead sensible and profitable lives, free of follies, excesses and wrongs, if they had been taught the right things by the right person at the right time. The sad part is that all require different teaching, and only an inspired genius can know the right thing to say and when to say it.

I am sure my own life would have been different, at 16 and for some years thereafter, if some wise and trusted person had spoken to me something like this:

"Listen, kid, you have brains. (It is always wise to use a little soft soap). You not only know right from wrong, but you are smart enough to know the wise course from a foolish one.

"There would be no doubt about your decision if you came to a place where one fork of the road led to a quicksand swamp and the other to a city of opportunity. That is, there would be no doubt if you read the signs carefully and thought what you were doing.

"But if you are just drifting and paying no attention to your route and acting on the impulse of the moment, you might wind up in the swamp. Never do anything of importance until you think through it and see where it will lead."

How many dismayed parents have cried: "But what possessed you to do such a thing?" And how many penitent youngsters have answered honestly: "I didn't think."

In war or in peace, the winner is the one that has the initiative—who calls the play—who knows what he is doing and chooses his course instead of following another.

I am not afraid you will be dumb. You have brains enough. I am only afraid you will act without thinking.

Young soldiers who did that were the ones who woke up married to hard little tramps they had met the night before. One thoughtless, impulsive act can mean a lifetime of grief.

Love,
DAD.

Marching Chinese Are Marching Again

Armed conflict has broken out in China.

After eight years of preliminaries, the patient Chinese at last get around to the main event.

The fight to oust the invader was long and bloody. But there's nothing like a scrap for the neighborhood championship for local interest.

The transition to peace posed many a problem to the United States. But not to China. Without difficulty does one reconvert to civil war.

U. S. Marines have been aiding Chiang Kai-shek. Russian troops in the north are sympathetic with Communist forces who oppose him. As in the case of the atomic bomb, not only are all the explosive ingredients known, but also available in abundance.

"Get our men out of there" is the battle cry here at home. But a hands-off policy can lead to disaster, as many a bicycling extrovert has discovered.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

Higgins' Ideas On Labor Problems

WASHINGTON.—As one of the nation's leading industrialists, Andrew J. Higgins, the dynamic New Orleans shipbuilder, has just made a searching analysis of labor front disturbances which should have an appeal to sober elements in government, industry and labor.

The analysis was presented to top-ranking administration sources in Washington and the subject matter has been found interesting enough to ask for and obtain Mr. Higgins' consent for its publication.

In it the New Orleans shipbuilder asks for the repeal of the Wagner labor act, which he says has fostered strikes and unfair labor practices. He demands that labor unions be made responsible under the law for their agreements and contractual obligations, just as a commercial organization.

But at the same time, by way of showing his fairness, he recognizes the right of labor to have wage increases to compensate for the loss in take-home pay arising from a return to the 40-hour week. The proposals he makes in this connection are seemingly sound and unique.

The Analysis The Higgins analysis merits reproduction in some detail. It follows:

"Those who abuse power should lose it, or be controlled. (Hence) The Wagner labor act should be repealed or modified.

"Labor unions should be made responsible under the law for their agreements and contractual obligations, and should be subject to the same scrutiny, regulations and responsibility as a commercial organization.

"The unions should be accountable for all initiation fees, fines and collections of money by their officers, and all handling moneys should be commercially bonded" . . . in order to "eliminate questionable characters who are abusing labor and disturbing the economy of the country.

"Organized labor unions should be equally responsible under the law as industry, management or the employer of labor . . . Private enterprise, stripped of its constitutional rights, is not free enterprise.

"It is time that the government—the administration and congress—throw off the fear of intimidation of organized labor, and realize there are some 125 million other Americans at peril from the discord a few misguided leaders of organized labor create.

"The present disturbances and the demands of organized labor . . . require consideration to alleviate that portion of labor's complaints which are true, and honest and require relief.

"This company (Higgins Industries, Inc.) like many others, is in the situation of limiting those employes engaged in termination of contract work to a 40-hour-week basis, with the result that the take-home pay is considerably smaller than it was during the height of war activity.

"The cost of living during the war has gradually increased, with small likelihood of it being reduced in the near future. Certainly the cos' of food commodities alone has increased over 15 per cent during the past two war years—while wages were stabilized—but now the reduced work week has caused conditions actually acute for the subsistence of the worker and his dependents.

"Certainly anything that would tend to inflation must be controlled, but an increase of 15 per cent in wages, to offset, if nothing else, the increased cost of the workers' victuals, would only be taking up the slack—would contribute to better efficiency of the worker, and, from this increased efficiency, could be absorbed by industry, provided industry as a whole were required or volunteered as a whole to raise the rate basis by this 15 per cent. No single corporation or individual could undertake this voluntary increase, unless all competitors would be compelled to do likewise.

"Possibly losses from such increased pay could be borne by the 'carry back and carry forward' provisions of the tax law. All that is needed at this time is that industry be assured that congress will not tamper with this provision, at least for the next two years."

ALL IN THE GAME

JACK TROY

Blue Devils Mighty The odds makers of football are showing some sense. They have switched away from Georgia Tech and established Duke as a one-touchdown favorite for the game today at Grant Field.

There was never any basis for making Tech the favorite. Duke has won five of the last six games—the last two in a row—and this year brings to Grant Field a team in the usual pattern of Duke teams. It's big, rugged, smart, alert, fast.

When we say big, we mean big in stature and correspondingly heavy.

Ens. George Clark, a bridegroom of recent date, is one of the best backs in Dixie. A year ago when Tech played Duke in Durham, Clark had just made the varsity. Coach Eddie Cameron promoted him from the white shirts to a starting position.

Clark showed his appreciation by running 65 yards for a touchdown on the opening play from scrimmage. Ever since Clark has been recognized as one of the finest running backs in the southland.

Clark is aided and abetted in no small measure by Gordon Carver, Alvin McCully and Tom LaRue.

All Duke teams are good passing teams. They're well grounded in the fundamentals. They tackle and block with authority. They run straight ahead with power and sweep the ends with smashing speed.

When Navy defeated Duke, 21 to 0, both Clark and McCully were used only sparingly. Both were injured.

Army's greatness was something which neither Duke nor any other team on the schedule can cope. Army's something out of this world, to use an original, though slightly worn, phrase.

But make no mistake about Duke. In the last three triumphs over Tech, Duke has ruled the day with long passes over the head of Tech's right sideback. These passes seem to have hypnotized the Jacket secondary.

The current Duke team has all the essentials. It is a much bigger team than Tech can field, both in line and backfield. And Duke is unbeaten in southern competition.

Fact is, both Tech and Duke have been beaten only in top intersectional competition.

Duke is the nominal favorite today.

If we like Tech by a touchdown we can't do so logically. We'll simply have to attribute it to sentiment.

Stronger Reserves This past week has been quite satisfactory to Bobby Dodd. Not because the Jackets looked unusually good in practice. Not that. Dodd was in good spirits because it was between terms at Tech and he had a chance to get the whole squad together for extra work for a change. Dodd had more time at his disposal.

Tech has been fortunate in adding a few reserves to a hitherto thin reservoir. Such boys as Billy Camp and Tom Daisley have been added to the tackles; Gordon Clay, Jack Helms and Jack Crawford to the ends; Jim Luck and Jim Petit to the halfbacks, and Charles Woodward and Spencer Keller to the fullbacks.

All this helps immensely. Tech went up against Notre Dame and Navy faced with the prospect of using regulars most of the way. Now there will be a chance for Dodd to take a breath when he sends in a substitute.

Tech is fortunate to have this bolstering in time for Duke.

Duke's superior weight has worn down more than one Tech team in the past.

But the main weapon the Blue Devils have had—and still have—is big receivers for the long, looping passes that have wrecked the Jackets in three of the last four games.

Tech's "midget" secondary first of all allowed the receivers to get in back of them. This is always fatal. But, in the second place, had the defenders been back there with the receivers, superior height probably would have figured in the completion of the accurately thrown touchdown passes anyway.

Duke doubtless is planning a similar attack for today's game.

Likes Jackets We find our old friend, Harry (Whiz) Wismer, ace sports broadcaster, serving in the role of Pigskin Pete for Editor Taylor Spinks' Sporting News this week.

One Wismer prediction, in particular, interests us. He picks Tech over Duke. He also likes Notre Dame over Navy. And Michigan over Minnesota. We see eye to eye in these picks. (But, of course, we must admit a little sentiment in the first selection.)

There's only one of his picks on which we disagree. Wismer picks Florida, his old school, over Auburn. Today is Auburn's home-coming game in the Loveliest Village of the Plains.

In the first place, we think Auburn has the better football team. Then, too, there's always an extra incentive for a team on home-coming.

Chandler's Picks In another corner of the Sporting News, Commissioner Happy Chandler, of baseball, serves as Grandstand Gus.

Chandler picks Tech over Duke, Auburn over Florida, Notre Dame over Navy, Michigan over Minnesota, etc.

Chandler always has been an avid follower of sports. He came along in the days of Bo McMillin's great Centre team, the Praying Colonels, and has followed football and baseball —and horse racing—with considerable interest ever since.

If Chandler doesn't get a more enthusiastic "press" and better co-operation from major league owners as time goes on, it will not be startling to see him resign the high commissioner's job and return to politics. He is not too happy with things as they now are.

Fighting Marist Holds Boys' High to 20-0 Score

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.

Halloween had been over two days but Boys' High and Marist didn't know it and put on as grotesque a show as any seen in Atlanta on "spook night" when they played their annual football game at Ponce de Leon park before some 4,000 fans last night.

The Purple Hurricane won its eighth straight game, 20 to 0, and saved most of the fury of its first eleven for the Tech High game next week. Shorty Doyal used three teams in the tiff which saw Marist recover six Boys' High fumbles, three blocked punts, two by the Purples, and a variety of other oddities.

One lad who added not a bit to the peculiar goings on was Ed (Snake) Swanson who played himself a real ball game. He gained 97 yards along terra firma or almost two-thirds of the Purple total. He got off one 52-yard punt and altogether played brilliant ball. The vaunted aerial show did not come off as the Purples threw only one pass in the last half. Marist's Joe Salome and Chapel Rhino heaved 18 but completed only four for 62 yards.

McARTHUR, PANTAZE STAR

Bobby McArthur, John Pantaze, Charlie Beckwith, Sherman Dantzler and Center Bradshaw were brilliant in the Purples' defensive play. Salome, Rhino and Paul Leamy did some fine ball advancing in spots for the Cadets, and Jim Merkle was a tower of strength in the up-front play as were John and Dave Arnold.

The first half produced some of the weirdest football seen in many a day. Boys' High fumbled five times with Marist recovering each time. The Purples blocked two punts and recovered both. The Purples fumbled the ball away the first two times they got their hands on it and still tallied their first touchdown before running a single successful offensive play. John Pantaze blocked one punt for Boys' High with Dantzler and Griffin recovering. Bill Johnson blocked the other and recovered it himself. John Arnold recovered two fumbles for Marist and Jim Merkle, Dave Arnold and Joe Salome came up with one bobble each.

The first quarter Boys' High tally came early in the period when Salome fumbled on a running play and Jack Griffin picked it out of the air and raced unmolested 81 yards across the double stripes. Weaver booted the seventh point.

Ed Swanson's two fine end runs for 16 and 17 yards and short bursts through the line by Payne sparked a 55-yard touchdown drive for the Purples in the second quarter. Ryckeley carried it over on a reverse from two yards out and Weaver again kicked true to make it 14-0 at halftime.

INTERCEPTION

Lautzenhiser intercepted one of Salome's aerials and returned it nine yards to the Marist 33 to set up a third quarter Purple score. One play lost 11 yards en route but Swanson reeled off two beautiful runs of 13 and 17 yards and skirted right end for the last four yards. Weaver's boot was wide and it was 20-0.

Marist took over and held the ball the rest of the quarter with Salome passing to Bob Tidwell for a 27 yard gain to spearhead a drive that petered out five yards short of a touchdown. As the fourth quarter started Marist again drove to the Purples' 16 before Boys' High took over. Later Salome ran and passed Marist down to the 14, but aerials failed and just as the whistle ended the fray Marist blocked a Purple punt deep in Boys' High territory.

Duke Favored Over Tech

34,000 View Big Battle Here Today

DEVILS EXPERIENCED

Duke is experienced in line and backfield. The team that starts against Tech will be approximately the same that started last year's game.

Fans have come to expect spectacular doings in Tech-Duke games and today's attraction should not be an exception. The Jackets will take to the air and also may try their luck at punching the big Duke line and skirting the ends.

George Mathews and Jack Peek will bear the brunt of the running attack. They've been standouts in every game.

BOWL HOPES ALIVE

The Bowl hopes of both teams will be hanging in the balance as these old foes dash for the 13th time. Duke has won nine, Tech three.

Duke, winner in five of the last six games, is a one-touchdown favorite. Coach Eddie Cameron has brought to Atlanta a team of veterans that will heavily outweigh Bobby Dodd's Jackets.

Both Tech and Georgia are unbeaten in southern competition. Duke's most notable triumph was over Wake Forest. Tech has beaten North Carolina and Auburn and outplayed Navy.

An aerial battle is expected. Tech has been sharpening the aerial game. Duke has won three of the last four games of the series on long tosses.

This season George Clark is the passing star of the Blue Devils. In fact, Clark is the triple-threat ace of the team. He is rated as good a runner as George McAfee.

The Duke party will arrive in Atlanta this morning and will be quartered at the Biltmore. The Blue Devils will depart Saturday night.

Wrestling Fans Pay $1,400,000 To See Dempsey

Al Massey, the tanned Miamian, who tips the scales at 228, tied Wally Greb, of Pittsburgh, in a knot with a reverse full nelson and pinned him to the mat after 25 minutes of their thrilling match at the municipal auditorium last night before a $1,400,000 Victory Bond audience. The third man in the ring was Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion.

Although the matches were fast and furious, it was the Manassa Mauler himself who stole the show. He was besieged by autograph fans at every turn and received a tremendous ovation when introduced in the ring before the main go.

In the other matches Evelyn Wall slammed Mae Weston to the mat in 10 minutes with a powerful body block; June Byers, of Houston, applied a flying tackle and body press to Juanita Coffman to take a decision, and Dick Lever and the Black Demon won the tag match after 42 minutes of fast fighting. The Demon pinned Red Vagnone with a body press and a series of slams to win the first fall. His teammate, Barto Hill, was unable to outpin his opponent in the second fall and Lever and the Demon won the match.

Dickey Probable Braves' Manager

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—(AP)—That log crackling brightest in baseball's hot stove league is a guess that Lt. Bill Dickey, strong man catcher of the New York Yankees, will be the next manager of the Boston Braves.

The guess comes from a set of unusual coincidences. Both Lou Perini and John Quinn, president and general manager of the Braves respectively, were in town yesterday for the baseball draft. Which is as it should be.

But up pops Lt. Dickey from the west coast. "I'm just stopping off here," Dickey told reporters, but he wouldn't say yes and he wouldn't say no when asked if he planned to confer with Perini or Quinn.

"The job is wide open," insisted Quinn. "We're still going over a lot of names." At the recent world series it was hinted that Bill Terry, the affluent ex-Giant pilot, had the inside track.

With George M. Trautman, the American Association president, now a member of the Detroit Tiger family as general manager and Quinn definitely snatching his hat from the ring, it looks like Herold (Muddy) Ruel, White Sox coach, will get the job as Commissioner (Happy) Chandler's assistant.

Georgia Heavy Choice To Beat Chattanooga

By F. M. WILLIAMS,
Constitution Staff Writer.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 2.—Georgia's Bulldogs, traveling in special buses, hit town about noon today and went through a light workout on the University of Chattanooga gridiron, where tomorrow the Bulldogs and the Moccasins clash before an estimated crowd of 10,000.

Coach Wallace Butts' team from Athens is a heavy favorite to whip the Chattanoogans, coached by a former Bulldog football and baseball star, A. C. (Scrappy) Moore.

Chattanooga is resuming football this year for the first time since 1942, and considering the handicap brought about by shortage of material, Coach Moore has molded together a fine young ball club.

The Moccasins aren't experienced enough, however, to upset the Bulldogs, paced by Charley Trippi, an All-American service player last season.

Ace of the Chattanooga team is Fred Mullis, a former Tech High star who also attended the University of Georgia for a short time.

Mullis, who performed for Miami University last season, is one of the best passers in the business. He plays left halfback in the modified Notre Dame system that Coach Moore employs.

Chattanooga officials announced that all available temporary seats in the city have been put up and that the demand for tickets cannot possibly be met.

Trippi is the big drawing card. In 1942, when Georgia trounced the Moccasins, 40 to 0, Charley had a field day and fans around here haven't forgotten his brilliant running and passing. They want to see some more of it.

Kickoff is 3 o'clock Atlanta time.

GRANT DISCHARGED FROM ARMY HERE

Bryan Grant (Bitsy), of Atlanta, twice national clay courts singles champion and a member of the U. S. Davis cup team in 1937, was discharged from the Army here Friday.

Grant served more than three years in the Air Forces.

Grant ranked eighth nationally at the time of his enlistment in 1942, won the Southern singles title nine times and various other tennis crowns during the 15 years he campaigned.

He won the national clay courts title in 1934 and repeated the next year. In 1935 and 1936 he was ranked third in the nation.

Decatur High Beats Griffin By 27-13 Score

By RUSSELL MUSGRAVE.
Constitution Staff Writer.

GRIFFIN, Ga., Nov. 2. — Decatur's undefeated and untied Bulldogs broke a third period deadlock here tonight to down the hard-fighting Gold Wave of Griffin, 27-13. Griffin, rated a slight underdog, held the powerful Decatur team to a tie until the end of the third period.

Decatur opened the scoring in the second period on an 86-yard drive with Eddie Roberts ripping off gains of 22 and 23 yards, and culminating in a pass from Jimmy Southard to Jack Tiller for the tally. Moose Miller hit the line for the extra point.

D. Lyle intercepted Everitt's pass on the Griffin 45, a few minutes later and raced up the sidelines to score for Griffin. Jack Lynch bucked the line for the extra point as the half ended, 7-7.

In the third period Griffin took the opening kickoff and drove up to the 19-yard line on a series of line plays. Lyle took the ball to pay dirt for Griffin. The attempt for the conversion failed. Decatur tied the game at the end of the third period on a 29-yard run around right end by Frank Miller.

In the fourth period Decatur broke loose from the tiring Griffin eleven to score two touchdowns in rapid succession. Southard passed to Tiller for gains of 30 and 12 yards to the 1-yard line where Frank Miller went over. Miller bucked the extra point. The next tally came on a pass Southard to Tiller for 48 yards. Amsler kicked the extra point.

Gainesville Wins Over Russell, 7-0

By WILLARD BARTLETT

Gainesville High's once defeated Red Elephants ran into a tartar last night at East Point when they met an improved Russell High eleven and barely emerged with a 7-to-0 victory.

For two quarters one of the best defensive conflicts of the season was in session with the break finally coming in behalf of the visitors in the third stanza.

After recovering a fumble on the Russell 36, "Bubber" Willis started the touchdown march, smahing through right guard for five yards and on the next play carried the sphere around right end down to the 21. George Byrd shot a quick pass to Max McKay on the seven and Willis completed the job through right tackle. George Byrd, who has set some sort of record in converting seven consecutive extra points this season, tallied again, giving the Gainesville lads the margin of victory.

"Bulldog" Waters and Jim Henson were outstanding for the Red Elephants as they continually smashed through the Wildcat defense to halt dangerous threats. Billy Smythe and Barry King continued their defensive play for the Wildcats.

College Park Wins Over West Fulton

By JACK ROBERTS

The College Park Rams broke loose in the fourth period yesterday afternoon to down the hard fighting West Fulton Owls, 7-0. It was the Rams' sixth win of the season and avenged the defeat handed them last year by the Owls.

In the first half College Park drove down to scoring position twice but couldn't manage to score. Thomas intercepted Bartlett's pass on the midfield stripe and ran to the West Fulton 15 before being brought down. Two plays later the Rams received a 15-yard penalty which ruined their chances of scoring. Later, Bateman, of College Park, raced to the Owls' 1-yard line but the half ended before another play could be run.

The lone score came in the fourth period when Bateman on an end run pushed the ball up to the goal line and Robinson plunged over center for the tally. Robinson kicked the extra point.

Security Exchanges To Close Nov. 6

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Major securities exchanges throughout the country will be closed Tuesday, Nov. 6, when elections are scheduled in a number of communities.

New York stock and curb exchanges declared a one-day holiday because of the election, while other suspensions of stock dealings affect exchanges in Boston, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit.

Cotton and produce markets in New York will be closed, but the Chicago Board of Trade will remain open as will the New Orleans cotton market. Various livestock markets will function as usual.

British and Canadian markets will be open.

In the following week, with Armistice Day, Nov. 11, falling on Sunday, the holiday observance will be held on Monday, Nov. 12, with markets and banks generally closed in nearly all states.

RATION DATES

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS

March 21-April 19 (ARIES)—This will be an excellent day for dealing with people who serve you, or whom you serve in any capacity. You will feel a greater magnetism and therefore be able to carry your plans through.

April 20-May 20 (TAURUS)—This will most likely be a day of conflicting emotions. Use care around water and liquids. An excellent day to be careful of your health, especially the digestive tract.

May 21-June 20 (GEMINI)—The morning hours and until 1:14 p. m. favors matters connected with educational affairs, but does not favor receiving the cooperation of others, for under existing influences, the general attitude of people is for self, too much speed, therefore use care in travel or pleasures.

June 21-July 22 (CANCER)—The influences prevailing today do not favor entering into anything that is indefinite, or that is not thoroughly understood, for too much action, or too quick action on your part, may easily bring losses. A good day to be cautious.

July 23-Aug. 22 (LEO)—The combined influences today supply inspiration that is favorable for financial interests, making personal decisions, as well as general business activities. The best aspects of the day operate previous to 2 p. m.

Aug. 23-Sept. 22 (VIRGO)—During the entire day and until 8:41 p. m. favors attention to executive lines, professional and business affairs, but dealings in artistic and social affairs will have a tendency to become clouded and confused, with undesirable elements entering in. After 8:41 p. m. you will progress more by going slowly, for you will lose by rash and hasty action.

Sept. 23-Oct. 22 (LIBRA)—An excellent day to attend to personal problems and minor unfinished tasks. Be especially careful of any new proposition offered you today and stifle any tendency towards extravagance.

Oct. 23-Nov. 21 (SCORPIO)—Be as energetic and industrious as you desire before 7:17 p. m., for you should be able to get right down to business. An auspicious time to look into new ventures or business deals where keen perception is necessary. After 7:17 p. m. be deliberate and careful in your activities.

Nov. 22-Dec. 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—A favorable day for looking up old friends and for adjusting misunderstandings. A propitious time for dealings with people of unusual and original ability, or for contacting people interested in important movements connected with community affairs. Not a favorable time for contracts.

Dec. 22-Jan. 19 (CAPRICORN)—After 10:47 a. m. favors practical work and dealings with people of a conservative nature, but does not favor sudden changes. The period favors sticking to routine.

Jan. 20-Feb. 18 (AQUARIUS)—More success will be attained today by sticking to routine. Be deliberate in what you do and do not undertake affairs impulsively. The best aspects of the day operate previous to 12 noon.

Feb. 19-March 20 (PISCES)—This should be one of the happiest of your days. It should be a day when tolerance and broadmindedness will prevail and you will find people in general ready and eager to assist you.
